Empress Dowager Haruku is the widow of the late Emperor Mutsuhito and is a woman beloved throughout the Empire. Like her late husband she is most liberal in her views regarding the women of Japan and took much interest in the educational work in their behalf. During the recent volcano one of the first to offer her sympathy to the sufferers and followed this promptly by a liberal contribution from her private fortune to she has been active and has proved, it is believed, a strong aid to Emperor Yoshihito and the present Empress in guiding the affairs of the empire during the recent dark days.

She is the third daughter of the late Ichido (Tadaka), a noble of the first rank and was born May 28, 1850. As Princess Haruku she became the wife of the late Emperor Mutsubito December 21, 1868, two months after he had been crowned Emperor of Japan. MOORS MURDER AN

Fort Shafter in Distress-Artesian Gusher, Like Volcano-Blows Out All Plugs.

(From Thursday Advertiser.) While Schofield Barracks frequently suffers from lack of water, Fort Shafter is suffering from an oversupply. There is an artesian well at the end of the street car well at the end of the street car line on the Shafter reservation which has been flowing uncontrolled for some weeks, and thousands of gallons of water is going to waste. Expert well drillers who were called into consultation threw up both hands after they had sized up the situation and declined to risk their reputations by attempting to plug the outlet. After the military authorities had about given up hope of conserving this water sup-ply, Thomas F. Sedgwick, who is nuected with the public work department, decided that he was the man to fill the job, and proffered his services, which were thankfully accepted. The task proved "live wire," casier to take hold of than to let

Mr. Sedgwick had certain welldeveloped ideas in mind when he undertook the work, and he pro ecoled to put them into eccutionwithout, however, diminishing the flow of water in the slightest degree. Just at the stage when he beginning to feel discouraged by the failure of his plans, a num ber of well meaning persons came to his assistance with other and original ideas, and to be impartial, he gave them all a trial.

To date all manner of apparatus has been introduced into the well but none seems to have any chance of effecting the desired result. The of energing the desired result.
